

OUR MISSION

At Marine Air, our mission is clear: to be the foremost supplier of electro-mechanical products to the Aerospace, Maritime, Defense, Transportation, and Energy markets. We are passionately committed to enhancing the supply chain's efficiency and reliability, empowering our customers and partners to excel in supporting the world's most demanding programs.

OUR SERVICES

ASSEMBLY SERVICES

Marine Air offers electro-mechanical assembly services that are focused on meeting the specific design requirements of your project. As an authorized distributor for some of the world's most innovative manufacturers of electro-mechanical components, we bring the expertise necessary to complete your build in a timely fashion at a great value.

BUILD TO SPEC

One of the more challenging aspects of R&D is finding a partner that understands the flexibility you need while being able to recommend and deliver solutions for you. We understand how to make that partnership work in a cost-effective way. Our sales team has a vast amount of product knowledge that is crucial in identifying the unique solutions available to you.

MILITARY PACKAGING, LABELS & BARCODING

With six decades of experience supporting the U.S. Department of Defense, Marine Air understands the complex logistical and compliance challenges that come with military contracts. Whether you're sourcing small parts or larger units, our team ensures every item is packaged and shipped in full compliance with government quality and packaging standards—safely, securely, and on time.
